At the meeting of the SIG-IEP today, the following options were discussed:

- (1) The President should let the US-USSR grain agreement lapse.
- (2) The President should authorize the exploration with the Soviets of the possibility of an extension of the existing US-USSR grain agreement for one year.

Under this option, there were two further alternatives:

- (2a) Pursuant to the consultations provided for in the agreement, the President should authorize U.S. officials to explore the possibility of additional grain sales beyond those provided for in the agreement.
- (2b) In connection with extension of the existing US-USSR grain agreement, the President should authorize U.S. officials to discuss the possibility of having higher minimum grain purchases in the agreement.

In a split vote a majority of the SIG-IEP recommended Option 2a.

Attached is language which would be used publicly in announcing either option (2)(a) or option (2)(b), whichever is the President's decision.

Option (2) (a)

I have authorized U.S. officials to explore the possibility of an extension of the existing US-USSR grain agreement for one year. I have further authorized them to explore in the consultations with the Soviets, normally conducted under the agreement, the possibility of additional grain sales to the Soviet Union.

Option 2(b)

I have authorized U.S. officials to explore the possibility of an extension of the existing US-USSR grain agreement for one year. I have further authorized them in connection with this extension to discuss the possibility of higher minimum grain sales to the Soviet Union.
